Lawmakers take aim at 'endless scandals' on Massachusetts Cannabis Commission, seek answers, oversight,

"As we all know, the Cannabis Control Commission (CCC) is not performing as it should. Our constituents, media reports, and even the actions and words of the CCC itself have repeatedly made clear that action is desperately needed to bring oversight, transparency, and accountability to the CCC,"

A marijuana cultivator whistleblower shared photos with Western Mass News of the cannabis plants at the growing facility. "She told us that they are unsafe for the public to smoke..".

"The Massachusetts Cannabis Control Commission has strict policies that local dispensaries are required to follow. This includes sending their plants in for testing, but the former employees claim that the company has found a way around that..."
